Date: 02-07-2024

Budget: 29$

Mode: Online

Target group: Target group of the project is 15-59 years old. We welcome everybody with interest as well. Children can also join along with their parents. The ones who are interested to join the project can enroll it by filling a form online. We will send them meeting link via phone number or mail according to what they provide as the information in the form. (Everybody has the right to feel the comfort regarding communication channels which will be contacted by us.)

Collaboration: There is no stakeholders included in this project.

Goals: The core aim of this project is to put meaning to the things we might think once as they are unvaluable, and awaken the mindsets of people in a way that will be eco-friendly so that sustainability can be achieved through our daily everyday-efforts.

Resources: I need 10 volunteers for the project. We don't require many materials for this project since it is easy to access to all. The necessary elements to complete the project are scissor, old clothes, needle, and sewing thread.

Dissemination: Dissemination will be done on the social media channels where I think people will be interested and I will let me circle informed about this so that they will help accordingly.

Brief description: Everyone experiences the time when they do not feel like wearing a cloth because it is outdated yet in good condition, so here is the solution. This project encourages people to use these clothes and make them turn into something meaningful which they will be in usage like pillows. They only need some old clothes pieces to fill the inside of the pillow which is the T-shirt with sewn edges in the shape of square. Then sew the last edge to complete it. Now you have your own pillow with a unique design.
